LARGE CROWDS AT WILD WEST SHOWS

Representation of Villa's Raid On Columbus a Feature of the Performances.

The crack of the revolver and rifle shot was the usual enthusiastic reception by the large crowds which thronged the fair ground Monday afternoon and evening and many of the youngsters who got their first glimpse at Indians in war paint went away thrilled.

The year's spectacle was brought up to date with a representation of Villa's raid on the town of Columbus, N. M., in which a detail of United States regulars and a detachment of Mexican revolutionaries played important parts.

Besides dashes riders on horse back and crack acrobats, the Wild West show was a most interesting and were capable of amusing people with clowns as well as ordinary circusmen. A police officer and another clown who impersonated a few of the younger ones from regarding the war paint and feathers so seriously. They carried revolvers that were young cannons and the three drummers fell over at each report.

One of the men on the artillery wagon had the small finger of his right hand cut and was taken to the city to a local doctor.

Col. Cody (Buffalo Bill) with his army of cowboys and his famous bunch of Indians, which has characterized him for a number of years led his carnival riders before the performances.

Many Conn. Boys AT PLATTSBURG
 Sixty-five State Towns Represented in Total Enrollment of 491.

Anson T. McCook, acting secretary for the enrollment of Connecticut boys in the Plattsburg camps, said on Monday that to date the Connecticut enrollment was 491. Nearly one-half, or to be exact, 234, applied for the Junior camp, for young men of 18 to 21 years, which began July 4. For the senior camp, for men over 21, the enrollment July 12, 123 have already enrolled. The latter camp is still open, but the time is getting short. Sixty-five Connecticut camps are represented on the total enrollment list. Mr. McCook has sent out the following circular letter:

"Our secretary, Mr. Hammersley, has gone to the front with Troop 15, cavalry. In his absence I write to ask your assistance in the work of recruiting for this year's Plattsburg camps. There are three edit to be held—in July, August and September. The next begins July 12.

"Nearly 400 have thus far enrolled from Connecticut for all camps. At present New Haven leads the state, with Hartford second, Middletown third and Waterbury, Bridgeport, Stamford and New Britain close behind. Many of the smaller towns have done exceptionally good work.

"We are assured by headquarters that the Plattsburg camps will go through according to schedule; rumors to the contrary are unfounded. General Wood also states that signing an application imposes no liability of service other than that which every citizen of the United States is bound to perform in the event of a call to the country and at the same time actually safer for themselves and their families when the emergency comes. While the work is far from easy, those who attended last year found it tempered to meet the needs of the great emergency. It is necessary to be physically fit and to be able to bring physical benefit rather than the reverse.

"Our committee wish to extend every courtesy possible to our guests, especially any assistance to those who are of the automobile parade. I hope is that the manufacturers along the line we will travel will in a conspicuous manner indicate their products. That the business men who will accompany us become the better acquainted with the points of production in Eastern Connecticut of many of the goods displayed on their shelves.

All would be interested in seeing that the mile that produced the needle went on the first parade. Instruments at San Francisco whose sound entertained us over the long distance were at the parade. Should a Norwich mill be in the Eastern Connecticut Eastern Connecticut mills produce quality.

Thanking you in advance for your help to our guests and ourselves in this great popular outing I am very truly yours,
 JOSEPH T. CRUTTENDEN, President

NORWICH PHYSICIAN INVESTIGATING EPIDEMIC

Dr. Klein Writes of Conditions in New York City.

Writing to The Bulletin S. R. Klein, M. D., of New York City, who is in New York making an investigation of the infantile paralysis epidemic in that city says:

I saw many hundreds of cases and did pathological bacteriological research work on a large scale. And I can say today that in most of those babies, where the infection took place, bedbugs, stable flies, biting flies, mosquitoes and sandflies were found in the blood of the little patients a chemical substance was discovered, Chemotoxin by name.

Remarkable, that in each house, where fatal cases have been recorded, dogs, cats, chickens and pigs have been found. No fatal cases occurred in a household where no such animals were kept.

The following diseases can produce infantile paralysis: Entertides, typhoid fever, rheumatism, tonsillitis, pneumonia, measles, scarlet fever, exact analogy could have been determined between anhydrosis and infantile paralysis in the New York Hospital for Deformities.

I would be glad to give a public lecture to the people of Norwich. They should know something about the disease. Picture and lantern slides would help the cause.

SUDDEN DEATH OF SCHOOL STREET WOMAN

Mrs. Catherine Theresa Magnolia Succumbed to Attack of Apoplexy.

Mrs. Catherine Theresa Magnolia, aged 45 years was found dead in her home, No. 56 School street, Monday evening about 7 o'clock by her sister, who is employed at the home of Dr. E. J. Brophy. Mrs. Magnolia was apparently preparing supper when she was stricken with apoplexy. Dr. Brophy was summoned but life was not restored when he arrived. The deceased was born in Lowell, Mass. 45 years ago and has been a resident of this city for the past 12 years, coming here from New York. She was a widow.

How Norwich Women May Keep Their Hair Soft and Beautiful

Dandruff must be removed and the hair roots nourished to stop falling hair and itching scalp. It is unnecessary to have thin, brittle, matted, wispy or faded locks. No matter how unsightly the hair, how badly it is falling, or how much dandruff, Parisian Sage rubbed into the scalp is all that is ever needed. The hair roots are nourished and stimulated to grow new hair, even all dandruff is removed with one application, and itching scalp and falling hair cease; the hair appears more abundant and is always soft, fluffy and radiant with life and beauty.

Parisian Sage, a faintly perfumed liquid, is one of the most pleasant, invigorating and refreshing hair dressing known, yet perfectly harmless and inexpensive. After the first application you will be surprised and delighted with Parisian Sage, for there is nothing that will so help to double your present attractiveness as luxuriant, glorious hair, and this can be obtained in all that can possibly be desired.

Be sure to get Parisian Sage from Lee & Osgood, or at any drug or toilet counter, as there is no other so effective.
